Your Appointed Duty

Robert Hoel '37

Helen B. Walsh

Edward
Stewart

'37

About you are seen humming dynamos, steel screeching upon steel, smoke, and steam.

About you are seen vast areas of flood, erosion, and fire.

Great buildings, automobiles, millionaires.

Filthy streets, dingy home, broken men.

A great civilization thriving on cooperation, love, and peace.

A black cloud threatening the very foundation of civilization.

Yours is a task for the mighty indeed!

Yet despair not. Rather thank God that you live midst the greatest crises of all time.

For every man God hath provided a place.

Find yours and serve mankind.

It's raining.
An hour ago it was so bright,
And now..... so dreary.

I saw it coming.
The clouds, piling up in a monument
To the god of Storm.

Like sentinels, at attention,
Until the commander gives his orders;
Then scurrying over the landscape,
Bringing peace, happiness, salvation, to some.

To me.....
An irrepressible desire to yawn.

"Another inquiring reporter, eh? How'd I get in here? I killed a man for a dollar bill. You're interested, aren't you?"

Yes, I killed him for a dollar. I didn't mean to. It was an accident. Broke, starving, it was him or me. Want to hear about it, eh? Well, Steve, my buddy, had been fairly well off too, but he played the stock market, and to cover his losses, he'd used money that wasn't his. Me? Oh, I got in a little scrape, and I've been a bum ever since my folks disinherited me.

We met in a box car, and during the time we were "riding the rods", we teamed up. I wouldn't be here today, telling you this story if the "brakies" hadn't throw us off the train at a little desert town in New Mexico. A cursed town, that was, a place where if you had neither money nor a job, you starved. Nobody cared. Even though I was a college man, I couldn't get anything to do, and so Steve and I hung around that town for three days, without a thing to eat. We slept in a stable..

When Steve came back to the stable one night, with a one dollar bill, I contemplated my first robbery He awoke when I rolled him over to get at the money, and in the fight that followed, I strangled him to death God knows I didn't mean to do a thing like that, but I lost my head.

The next morning I went to the only restaurant in the town, ordered a real meal, and paid for it with the dollar. About a half hour later, the Sheriff came in and arrested me.....

How did they find out? Well, the fellow who ran the restaurant happened to own the stable we slept in. He found Steve that morning when he went out to the stable for something You don't understand? Why he was the one who gave Steve that "phoney" dollar!"

News-Making

Esther Rawson, '37

Can anything, dead or alive, more pitiful be thought of than a jaded scribbler for the public press sitting down to his task at the last moment with an aching head and an empty stomach or vice versa? Imagine the forlorn drudge's sensations as he doggedly turns toward his typewriter. He is destitute, his overwrought brain has exhausted its stock of images, and he can fancy nothing but the ghosts of ideas already hackneyed through all the changes of the alphabet — no subject that has not been hacked to death by the hungry scissors of borrowers and imitators. Yet must he continue to feed the iron jaws of the press. There is no release from the undertaking. He is in for it, and, dull or keen, feasting or starving, his imagination must be wrung daily to meet the merciless demands of the demon at his elbow.

Other men may eat, drink, and sleep; may live, move, and have a being like decent creatures; the merchant may relax in time of sickness, or retire at seasons of enjoyment; the mechanic may forego a job when he breaks a limb, or chooses to go fishing; the farmer may work, or let it alone; and the mariner has frequent intermission amidst the toils and the storms of his career. Not so with the slave of types. For him there shines no holiday. No repose or retreat awaits his tired powers. When he skulks, the world comes to an end and chaos riots.

Nor is it merely indispensable that he shall labor at brief and stated intervals, but he must also keep his mind alert to novelty. The reading public has become a spoiled child with a depraved appetite perpetually hankering after novelties, monstrosities, and impossibilities. In the constructing of news for a cultured, curious, and gossiping world, a renewal of intellect, once a year at least, is absolutely necessary.

Even the press man can't last forever. The brain's resources lessen, the thread of life spins out, and "Circulation" stops. Truly, this is a cruel world; and the man that meddles with paragraphs, a miserable piece of machinery, the nearest to Perpetual Motion in every sense of the word.

The Waiter

In a diner
In the city
Near the roaring thoroughfare,
Stalks a waiter
Sleek yet weary
Toiling on with glassy stare.
Silver's gleaming;
Coffee's pouring;
Savors fill the stifling air.
People enter;
People exit.
All day long this happens there.

The Show-off

CLARA	Marion Kelly
MRS. FISHER	Pauline Clark
AMY	Ruth Redman
FRANK HYLAN	Charles Sweeney
MR. FISHER	George Gibson
JOE	John Hermistone
AUBREY PIPER	John Buckley
MR. GILL	Paul Engley
MR. ROGERS	James McLellan

On Friday evening, December fourth, nineteen thirty-seven, the Senior Class of North Quincy High School presented a most refreshingly unamateurish performance of George Kelly's "The Show-Off". The play earned for Mr. John Hofferty, its stage-director, a de luxe laurel wreath from the appreciative and (even greater tribute) amused audience. The most popular performance was that of Miss Clark who exacted the last iota of shrewd, dry humor from her part. Mr. Buckley entered into the thing with a warm gusto which, though often unconvincing, filled admirably the title role. Marion Kelly brought a mature grace to the play, along with a pleasingly clear delivery. The temperamental outbursts of Amy were executed with a fire that bestows great dramatic credit on Miss Redman. Another hit was scored by Mr. Gibson with a clever and understanding portrayal of the peppery Mr. Fisher. No less able was the supporting cast. Mr. Sweeney was interestingly enigmatic as Frank Hyland; Mr. Engley gave a note of suburban simplicity as the sympathetic Mr. Gill; Mr. Hermistone romped self-assertively through his part as the young and ambitious Joe; and Mr. McLellan was most distingué as the insurance man. The efficient ushering and appropriate music also were worthy of laudatory note.

H. M. S. Pinafore

On Wednesday afternoon and Thursday night, May 19 and May 20, respectively, the N. Q. H. S. Glee Club under the direction of Miss Peck and Miss Christman presented the Gilbert and Sullivan Operetta, "H. M. S. Pinafore".

THE CAST

RT. HON. SIR JOSEPH PORTER, K. C. B.	Ernest Mandeville
COUSIN HEBE	Joan Cross
CAPT. CORCORAN	William Cowley
JOSEPHINE	Jeanna Mattern
RALPH RACKSTRAW	Richard Johns
LITTLE BUTTERCUP	Ellen Oldham
DICK DEADEYE	John Buckley
BOATSWAIN	Donald Blatt
BOATSWAIN'S MATE	Homer Hathaway
MIDSHIPMITE	William Whipple

The production was of a nature indeed worthy of the Gilbert and Sullivan standards.

The romantic leads were well matched both as to appearance and to voice. Mr. Johns' voice had the usual well-remembered richness. Miss Mattern showed great promise, much of which was fulfilled in the clarity of her higher notes toward the end of the piece. As for Mr. Buckley, Deadeye Dick, he had only to be on the stage to own it completely — such was the vigor and spirit with which he captured the Gilbert and Sullivan comedy. Mr. Mandeville, "K. C. B.", showed he could both act and sing in his whimsical portrayal of the vain and none-too-bright "Admiral of the Queen's Navy" (a song which, by the way, he rendered cleverly). Joan Cross, as his cousin Hebe, sang, smiled and talked, all with a sweetness which became her part and won her the affection of the audience. The Bos'n, Donald Blatt, was very nautical, very British, and very pleasant. William Cowley strutted most effectively and very captainish as the ambitious father of the heroine. Miss Oldham made a very winning Little Buttercup and received a well earned round of applause. Another scene stealer was the little midshipmite whose wide-eyed wonderment made him an instant favorite. The Chorus is to be commended most highly for the manner in which they participated in the operetta and became a charming and interesting part of it.

Student Council

The Student Council is the busy little group of eighteen that meets in Room 111 every Wednesday and Thursday during the homeroom period. It has made possible the early organization of the Class of '38 and by that token the first "Junior Prom" ever given at North. The Class of '39 has also been organized so that it, too, may undertake social and class affairs earlier than any previous class. The three bulletin boards so badly needed will be constructed and illuminated by a fund left by this Council. The Parents' Night exposition, which was planned and arranged by this body, gave the first showing of the work of all the departments in the school. But these are only a few of the worthy deeds of the Council which has responded so nobly to all the demands for improving our school. The students should encourage the Student Council for the next year so that it may emulate its predecessor. During the last year the '36 - '37 Council was advised by its experienced friend, Miss Horrigan, and led by Everett Pope, its President; Barbara Keith, Vice-President; Doris Kenney, Secretary; and Stephen Horton, Treasurer.

The Manet

Manet Staff

The MANET Staff submits this issue and the January issue for your approval. It calls the student body's attention to the reforms and innovations it has introduced. It has sought the best literary works of the more talented students. It has given every department a voice in its issues. Readers will notice that the printing has been broken more frequently by illustrations and that the type itself is more readable and easier on the eyes. We hope we have given you two magazines which you can carry with you on your visit to your uncle in New York and to the girl friend in Lowell and display with pride and a feeling of superiority. The staff has selected only those articles and innovations that are of a quality that will endure and will be read years later.

The Seniors will be pleased to notice that we have added in the yearbook a quotation appropriate to the character of each member of the class. The staff has striven after a less conventional and more friendly graduating number. The work of the extra-curricular activities has been fairly and evenly treated without disproportionate regard for any special field.

We are proud of our work; it is our best, and we hope that you, our public, are pleased, gratified, and likewise proud.

The Library Staff

This year, as in other years, the Library Staff has been of a great assistance to North. Its forty-five members of grades nine to twelve, assisted by Miss Sherman, keep the library running smoothly and methodically. In order to hold to this standard each member is assigned to certain duties, such as stamping permits, returning slips to study rooms, and checking books and magazines. Notebooks are also kept containing interesting clippings which have been taken from some of the outstanding newspapers. In addition to these duties the members of the Library Staff keep the bulletin boards posted with notices of school activities and other clippings of interest. Members of the staff from the ninth grade have been working out a series of contracts designed to teach them more about the resources of the library and how to be more efficient members of the staff.

The Library Staff has two social affairs each year which are always eagerly anticipated. The first affair was an informal party held in the library where the members enjoyed games and refreshments. The second social is to be a picnic party. The girls will cook their supper over a camp fire and then play games.

Thus, one may realize the pleasure that a member of the staff receives not only from the social activities, but also from the service rendered to the school.

The Manet

The Honor Society

Over ten years ago the Department of Secondary-School Principals (then the National Association of Secondary-School Principals) organized the National Honor Society with the end in view of stimulating scholarship in the secondary schools of the United States. Today there are over two thousand chapters and these are in the best high schools in the country. Every state in the Union has her share and a goodly number are to be found in such other places as Alaska, Hawaii, the Philippine Islands, and China. The four objectives of the society are: to create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate the desire to render service, to promote worthy leadership, and to encourage the development of character. During the closing weeks of the 1935 - 1936 school year Mr. MacDonald established in this school a chapter of this National Honor Society with just such desires as stated above. This chapter, for the school year of 1936 - 1937, was composed of twenty-six charter members and was designated in its charter as chapter 1803 of the National Honor Society. Each of the twenty-six members has his gold pin significant of his membership. The first officers of the society consist of a President, a Vice-President, a Secretary, and a Treasurer, and these were, respectively, Everett Pope, Doris Kenney, James Hawso, and John Hermistone. On May 25 thirty-two new members from the Junior and Senior Classes, were admitted to the society and received pins.

Debating Club

The Debating Club provides a fine opportunity for those interested in either discussing, or hearing discussed, topics of the day and questions of interest. This year some of the interesting debates were on the Chinese-Japanese question, the thirteen month calendar, and the President's plan to increase the size of the Supreme Court. Each debate was characterized by enthusiastic and friendly argument. The outstanding debate of the year was concerned with government ownership of the electric light utilities. This was the subject chosen for the debates which take place between schools of Massachusetts to determine a champion team. The four young men from North won the regional title and placed well up on the list at the state finals.

The Club this year has met nearly every week under the capable direction of Mr. Smoyer and Mr. Foy. Next year Mr. Foy is planning to give short lessons on public speaking besides conducting the regular debates. No one is forced to participate in any debate and spectators are welcome. Sometimes the spectators are asked to act as judges and decide on the winning team. Usually there are two debaters on a team. After each has given his initial speech, a five minute period is allowed to reorganize material to meet the challenges of the opposing group. Each speaker presents his points of rebuttal, and the judges render a verdict. A lively discussion, in which the audience participates, then takes place about the merits and demerits of each talk. If this type of interesting program appeals to any juniors or seniors, both boys and girls, they are cordially invited to be among this friendly group.

Hi-Y Club

The Hi-Y Club is one of the service clubs of the school. Under the direction of Mr. James Hardy, Boys' Secretary of the Quincy Y. M. C. A., the club has sponsored several assemblies, assisted with the welfare work at Thanksgiving and Christmas, and has established the reputation of being one of the better organizations for boys in the public schools. Its aim is to promote the spiritual, mental, and physical being of the Quincy school boy who finds it hard to attend the regular classes at the Quincy Y. M. C. A. building. Weekly business meetings and bi-monthly meetings at the Quincy "Y" are taken up with planning new ways to benefit the school. A new project which should prove of interest to all is now being developed and should be ready by the beginning of the next school year. Robert Navin is this year's President; Everett Pope, Vice-President; Nino Mayer, Secretary; and "Del" MacFadden, Treasurer. Under the leadership of these boys the club has maintained its high standards. James Wells, John Carleton, Richard Aldrich, and Philip Navin, next year's officers, should do as well. The Hi-Y takes this opportunity to welcome its contemporary, the Tri-Hi-Y club for girls, and to wish them success in their undertaking.

June
1937

Tri-Hi-Y Club

The Tri-Hi-Y, which does for the girls what the Hi-Y does for the boys, is a new organization at North. The purpose of the club is "to promote, create, and extend throughout the school and community high ideals of Christian character." Started this year, it has a membership of thirty-five girls elected from the eleventh and twelfth grades. The officers are: President—Gertrude Stewart, Vice-President—Elaine Baker, Secretary—Eleanor Hawkins, Treasurer—Betty McClosky, with Miss Flavin, Miss Johanson, Mrs. Hardy, and Mr. Hardy as advisers.

Meetings are held at night at the Y. M. C. A. every other week and in the afternoon at school the intervening weeks. Some of the activities have been a hike and supper at which the Hi-Y boys were present, a game night, and a parents' night with Reverend Victor Sawyer as guest speaker. The members were inducted by the officers of the Newton Tri-Hi-Y Club.

Senior Girls' Club

The Senior Girls' Club has maintained a dual purpose this year. As well as carrying on the customary welfare projects, a definite step has been made to promote friendliness and cooperation among the girls. At the Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons, North made an excellent showing of contributions under the guidance of this club, one of the school's traditional organizations. Right here, in the building, however, much has been accomplished. By sponsoring at least one activity each month, the club has endeavored to enable every member to become acquainted with more of her classmates, and thus create a more closely organized student body. A very successful dance, several speakers, outings and welfare and hospital projects were among the undertakings of the girls. A record is kept of each member's participation, thus making it easier to include every one on a committee or in some phase of service to the class, school, or community. The Junior girls were initiated in May and have already shown themselves well able to continue the excellent projects which are rapidly becoming a traditional part of student life.

Varsity Club

Under the leadership of President Peter Cooke, the Varsity Club is completing one of its most successful years. The Club began its activities during this school year by conducting a pre-game pep rally on the eve of the annual Quincy - North Quincy football game. This meeting was addressed by Mayor Burgin, several members of the School Committee, North football captains of former years, and Coach Donahue. An overflow crowd was in attendance.

The "Varsity Follies of 1937" was produced in April. Matinee and evening performances delighted both young and old. Fred Young as "Pizen Pete", the toughest hombre in Cactus County; Bill Hourahan as the Sheriff; Bob French as Frivolous Sal, and Joe Pearlmutter as Roughhouse Regan furnished laughs galore in their version of "The Wooing of Frivolous Sal". Something new in entertainment here at North, a pantomime, delighted the audiences. In this skit Bob Navin, Jim McLellan, Pete Cooke and Bob Seagar were outstanding. The second half of the show consisted of "The Follies", as such. The singing and dancing of the transformed "chorus girls" was immense, while the specialty numbers contributed by Jim McLellan, "Red" Navin and Bud Abbott, John Malloy, Phinney, Cooke, and Cummings, the style show "models", and that incomparable queen of "La danse jolie," Dan Sullivan, contributed a plentitude of laughs. The throng in attendance again taxed the seating capacity of the hall, a tribute to the remarkable hold this show has on the pupils and friends of North.

A grand get-together of present members with former members at the annual meeting this month will close a banner year in Varsity Club history.

Girls' Basketball

Miss Perkins has developed two smooth running girls' basketball teams this season, as well as giving each of the two hundred girls who turned out opportunities to play. With the gym available for senior basketball only since January, she has, however, encouraged alertness and the study of technique so that the teams would be rated high in proficiency. The girls bowed to the alumni however in this first game, 22 to 18, and Quincy outscored the first team 22 to 12 in the first game played in our gym, and, in the game played at their gym, 35 to 20. The second team came through victorious both times. Regardless of the score, North's six were a joy to watch with their fine pass work and team work. The only girls to come from outside teams on our squad were our snappy forwards, Marjorie Plumb and Betty McClosky, as against every girl on the Quincy team. Ruth Tonry as guard was small but efficient; Janet Cheney and Helen Collins, who are juniors, were also active guards. Viola Sorquist, center, and Betty Day, side center, played consistently good games, and Nancy Plummer, also center, made her first year on the team a success. These girls wore the school uniforms of red and black in the games and they will receive school letters.

The Horseback Riding Club

Four years ago Miss Perkins founded a Horseback Riding Club which was the first of its kind in the entire Quincy School System. Her experiment has proved a great success, and today there are more than thirty girls registered in the club.

Every Wednesday afternoon these fortunate young ladies enjoy an hour's ride through the Blue Hills Reservation. At this time of year, especially, a more delightful recreation cannot be found.

However, the girls gain more than pleasure from their sport; for they have five competent instructors who are teaching them the fundamentals of true horsemanship. Nor are they content to stop there; for these ambitious equestrians intend to learn the proper care and saddling of a horse and other worthwhile information.

The Horseback Club offers an excellent opportunity to the girls to become adept in a sport that is otherwise inaccessible to the majority of us. Also, unlike most sports, one does not have to ride well to enjoy it; for even the beginners eagerly anticipate Wednesdays. Miss Perkins certainly should view this worthwhile project with pride and pleasure, for she dared to try something different, and by so doing she brought into existence an activity which North is proud to claim as her own.

Track

Of real importance is the announcement that North's track team, under the guidance of Coach Donald West, is one of the most promising of a large group of New England teams. Thus far they sport an unsmirched record for single meets and sixth position in the 25th Annual New Hampshire Interscholastic meet, which, incidentally, is worth as much as their victories.

At this New Hampshire meet all the boys came through handsomely, Gilday netting a third in the 440 finals, Durup a sixth in the mile, Story a second in the broadjump. The relay team, although weary from other events, took a third. All this in a rainstorm against the best competition this part of the country offers.

North ran amuck at Attleboro to the tune of 45 to 18. Performing in what seems to be an habitual style, they overrode all opposition, taking the points in almost every event run. Walker, Story, Gilday, Buddenhagen, Durup, Goode, Ruggles, and DeVries performed brilliantly in this meet.

Weymouth's doom was certain after the first few events but even Story didn't expect a $56 \frac{1}{3}$ to 15 score. All of Mr. West's proteges turned in creditable performances, Todd taking the highjump, Story the 100 and broadjump, Gilday the 220 and 440, Durup and Norton first and third in the mile, while Goode Buddenhagen, and Ruggles added to the North total.

With such a record behind and a long list of opportunities ahead, we are assured a track record to be proud of. In return for such brilliant work all the team desires is your support, so coöperate with them as they have coöperated with you and North will have an unbeatable track team.

Girls' Bowling

The Girls' Bowling Club was organized to interest the older girls at North in active participation in one of the fast growing sports in America today. For a new club an amazing amount of interest was shown and fourteen teams, consisting of five girls on each, were immediately formed. The club is under the able sponsorship of Mr. Sylvia who has earned the sincere gratitude of all the girls by his keen interest in their enjoyment. He was assisted in this work by Miss Reilly and Miss Burns, whose voluntary aid was very much appreciated. The program consists of bowling every second Friday; usually with eight teams at Norfolk Alleys and the remaining six at Wollaston. The organization of the group was undertaken by Mr. Sylvia at the suggestion of Edythe Bright, Louise Oliver, and Alice McLaughlin who, incidentally, are among the high scorers; and along with Dot Knowles, Marjorie Crown, Marjorie Rull, and Harriet Dodds aspire to the trophy which was generously donated to the girls by Mr. Percy Gilbert. Next year the members plan to offer another trophy themselves. Certainly we all wish good luck to this novel undertaking and hope that its future will be as successful as the results of this first year.

The Cheerleaders of '37

Upon Mr. West's return to school this year, he assumed his former duties, one of which was that of cheer-leading coach. In response to his call for try-outs, a great deal of interest was shown with over fifty candidates reporting. After several cuts, the group was finally limited to the five who were named the cheerleaders of '37. They are Joan Kennedy, Barbara Keith, Thelma Fox, Ruth Tonry, Dorothy Rooney, the latter being head cheer-leader. However, after starting the group, Mr. West (because of other activities) was forced to turn his duties as coach over to Mr. Forrest, to whom is due much credit for the commendable way in which he carried on the work. The girls finally chosen went through weeks of intensive training to prepare for the football season. During this time they added a colorful touch to every game, especially at the climax of the season when, followed by the band, they led a Victory march from the oval to the school where joy was rampant for many hours. This season over, the squad rested for several weeks but took up double duty when the basketball and wrestling teams swung into action. Besides directing cheers at the athletic games, they also held many pep rallies for the support of the teams. Although the girls worked hard, they enjoyed themselves. It is interesting to note that to the girls one of the most enjoyable parts of cheer-leading is the custom of meeting the opponent's cheer-leaders and exchanging cheers with them.

The Athletic Council

The Athletic Council, as it now exists is a new organization. It replaces the older athletic councils and worthily carries out the precedent laid down by them. This council consists of two delegates, one boy and one girl, from grades nine, ten, eleven, and twelve, and one member from the Student Council. This year the Athletic Council helped finance the athletics of this school by running several afternoon dances. This year the Council had as its enthusiastic sponsor, Mr. Forest, who has taken a deep interest in school affairs. The officers are as follows: Harold "Miff" Leath, President; Barbara Bruce, Vice-President; William Phinney, Treasurer; and Janet Cheney, Secretary.

Wrestling Team

Again the wrestling team maintains its position as the most successful team sponsored by the school. The Old Colony Wrestling League trophy and the Tufts Interscholastic Tournament cup find their way into the trophy case again. Captained by Tony Del Gallo, the team suffered only one defeat this year at the hands of a splendid team from Andover Academy, a tribute to the coaches, Mr. French and Mr. Mullarkey (Mr. MacDonald's pressing business affairs forced him to act as coach ex-officio for the year). Tony had an undefeated season and won the Massachusetts State 135 lb. wrestling title. "Ed" Cameron, Russell "Pop" Warner, Arthur Connors, "Ed" Doyle, "Bob" French, and John Carleton were place winners in the Tufts Tournament for North. "Ed" Cameron had an undefeated dual meet season and suffered his only defeat in the "Tourney". Next year's team should be as good as this one, if not better. Four first team men graduate, with four capable second team men to fill their shoes. Congratulations, Mr. Mullarkey and Mr. French, and good luck for the coming year.

Basketball

The recent basketball season found North Quincy represented by a veteran aggregation under Coach Rogers. Realizing the possibilities of this team, Mr. Rogers spared nothing in polishing off any rough points which might hinder its progress. The first team usually presented the same line-up, namely, Pete Cooke and Nino Meyer, forwards; Roger Comins, center; and Capt. Fred Cummings and "Miff" Leith, guards. "Red" Navin, Walter Anderson, Fred Young, George Reilly, and "Timer" Ryan, who comprised the reserves, often saw action. North faced a difficult schedule, meeting Brockton, Waltham, Weymouth, and Quincy as their major opponents. Perhaps the most thrilling games were those with Weymouth as North Quincy won its first tilt with the Maroon-and-Gold 23 to 19 after a great last-half rally, and dropped a one-point contest to them in the second game. A pleasing feature of the season was the pair of wins inflicted on Quincy, a satisfaction which has been denied to North in past years. The high scorer for the season was Pete Cooke, yet no one player can be selected as the individual star as each shone at different times and in different ways. The season may be termed a successful one for in no game was North severely beaten, and she won the majority of games.

Golf

The Golf Team, sponsored this year by Mr. Donahue and captained by Robert Adams, has won five victories in the Norfolk County League and has been defeated only twice (both times outside the league), both of which defeats they are grimly determined to vindicate. Canton, Needham, Walpole, and Norwood have fallen before the clubs of this team, and Thayer and Brockton are a matter of time. The Golf team has only to win the Norfolk County High School League cup once more, when it will be permanently lifted for North. The admirable work of the team members, especially of Bob Adams, Charles Sweeney, Victor Nelson, and Jimmy Kelly, has gained this sport a large following among the students of North.

Ping Pong

This year North has increased its facilities for the playing of Table Tennis by the opening of Room 111 as a sports room. There, three tables, made in our own shop, have been set up and, under Miss Perkins with the help of Miss Stevens and Miss Glidden, one hundred and seventy girls have participated in tournaments played on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. The winner's of Tuesday's tournament is Sabrena Greenwood; of Thursday's, Marie Vann, with Ruth Anderson as runner-up.

William Todd, a ninth grader, is the winner among the boys, who, though fewer in number than the girl enthusiasts, play a more experienced game. Mr. Warriner with Mr. Beede's help had charge of the boys three afternoons a week.

North's enthusiasm for ping pong was increased by an assembly at which Nancy Bray, an alumna and Mrs. Frederick Clothiers, quarter finalist in the National Women's Singles, and Mr. Holden, secretary of the Massachusetts Table Tennis Association, played exhibition games. The speed of the game requires such activity and skill that ping pong, which is played internationally, has risen high in the estimation of our students.

The Badminton Club

The Badminton group is one of the up-and-coming organizations in the school. The club consists of senior girls, and the only requirement for admission is the possession of the racquet which can be purchased for two dollars and up. The gym is the meeting place. Painting the courts was one of the necessary tasks which was completed this year. The group at present consists of about twenty-five girls but next year it is hoped that a peppy boys' group can be started. Also the club hopes to be able to have interscholastic tournaments which could not be held this year because the only other group around this section is in Cohasset. If you are interested in this fine sport, you are urged to see Miss Savage under whose able tutelage the club has met for its weekly three hours of fun and competition.

Boys' Bowling

A sport which is comparatively new, yet rapidly becoming popular, at North, is bowling.

On April 1st when the Boys' Bowling League, under the direction of Mr. Sylvia, wound up its season, the North bowlers were the possessors of both trophies and honors for our school. At the Hearst Bowling Tournament at Boston, Rowan Whitman was awarded a sweater by Mr. Arthur Burgess for the high three string, a total of 300, and the boys secured a special trophy for the school. A permanent trophy for North was awarded by the New England Bowling Association, a great honor for both team and school, and a trophy each one of the seventy-five boys on the team helped to win.

Next year the bowling team will start early in October on its fifteen week season, and it is hoped that when the season is over, the boys can engage other schools in single meets.

The Junior Orchestra

The Junior Orchestra, under the able leadership of Miss Beesley, has been conducted through a very active and successful year. Rehearsals were held every Wednesday afternoon for an hour, and the orchestra has been on hand for every Junior Assembly.

An outstanding item on the program for the year was a concert, held May 6, at the Francis W. Parker School. At this time there was a violin solo by Gwendolyn Bowes, a piano duet by Hazel Generaux and Rita McFarland, a trumpet solo by Frank Guzzetta, and a clarinet solo by Walter Fultz. In addition, North's Junior Orchestra made a part of the combined junior orchestra in the annual spring Instrumental Concert at Quincy High School. On this occasion Mildred Acker, from our eighth grade, was chosen to be the pianist for the combined groups. Also, included in the year's program, will be a concert for North's junior high unit to be held on June sixteenth.

Exchange

The joy of your editor's blue Mondays has been, of late, the "Grantonian", a sparkling newsy school paper which is sent to us weekly from Grant High, Portland, Oregon. There the pupils themselves report and edit the paper, and an alert and talented group they must be, for the four page newspaper is just bubbling with breezy professional write-ups and sports comments, special columns, and editorials.

The front page has the news of the week, pictures of the central figures, the schedule of activities for the week, and a sketch of the school, which resembles Technology's main building. The second page has editorials and special columns; Faculty Photographs, Alumni News, School Interviews, and a Chatter Column. The third and the last pages have a continuation of the social and sport write-ups.

The articles are written in a sincere, flowing style, with no attempt to be impressive through either multi-syllable words or a startling sports vocabulary. The writers make no attempt to force their conception of humor upon the reader, they write without an eye to the teacher's reactions, and they have so much real news that there is no room for a Suzzy Snoop column.

The school has a number of pleasant customs and fads. All those who meet on "Hello Lane", strangers or otherwise, speak to one another; a literary scrap book is kept in the library; polls on the most popular books are taken; shiny shoes are an offence; and, at present, the student body sucks lolly-pops.

The classes and activities at Grant High seem to be in closer contact with community life than is true in our schools. The courses include classes in public speaking, journalism, and regional problems. There is an active Dad's Club and a Mothers' and Teachers' Association. The school elects a representative to such civic affairs as the Rose Festivals; the manufacturers open their factories to classes and prepare exhibits. Dinners and teas are frequent; many of the sport contests, as well as concerts and dances are held in the evenings. To complete the coöperation between high school and community, this excellent school paper is well supported by business advertising.

We have also received from other high schools the following exchanges which we have enjoyed reading.

WHAT ABOUT JOBS?

There are hundreds of young men looking for jobs they cannot find, yet large employers are saying they have many vacancies they cannot fill. The trouble is the job hunters are unskilled and the vacancies do not call for the untrained. If you are one of the untrained, there is something you can do about it. Our students are learning, by doing actual work, machine shop practice, welding, mechanical drawing, all as part of their training for Diesel jobs where the demand for men is great. Many lines of opportunity besides Diesel are open to the man who has our training.
